"I am honored to be joined at this significant event by Anderson's mayor, Kris Ockomon and his wife Ann," said Pence. "As we set aside time to remember the power and necessity of prayer, we should also be reminded to pray for those like Mayor Ockomon who sacrifice much to be public servants."

"I am thrilled to have been invited to attend the National Prayer Breakfast this year," said Ockomon. "Ann and I have felt the power of prayer at work in our lives and look forward to being present at this event, where thousands of people united in purpose and faith will gather together to call on a greater power."
